

9/11 UND DIE FOLGEN IN DER POPMUSIK IV. EINE AUSWAHLDISKOGRAPHIE

Thomas Phleps

Die nachfolgende Diskographie bietet nur einen kleinen Ausschnitt aus der 9/11 und die Folgen betreffenden Musikproduktion. Nur in ganz geringem Umfang bspw. sind Songs der vor allem von Amateuren bis Semiprofis bestückten Musikportale für den kostenlosen Download von MP3s oder anderen Audioformaten (wie MP3.com, luma.com, Soundclick.com oder Besonic.com) aufgeführt – hier zeigt sich am deutlichsten die Flüchtigkeit des Internets, da zahlreiche dieser immerhin rund 1300 Songs (und so manche der unten aufgeführten) u.a. durch den Wechsel der Besitzverhältnisse an der Domain MP3.com, dem größten dieser Portale, über ihre einstigen Adressen nicht mehr abrufbar sind (vgl. S. 64). Diese mitunter arg amateurhaften Musikproduktionen wurden vor allem in den ersten Monaten nach 9/11 und im Umfeld des Afghanistankrieges ins Netz gestellt; zu Zeiten der sich zuspitzenden Irakkrise resp. der US-Kriegsvorbereitungen, im Februar/März 2003 also entwickelte sich das WorldWideWeb zu einer alternativen Publikationsmöglichkeit auch für die Profis, die ihre engagierten Protestsongs unzensiert, ohne kommerziellen Hintergrund und vorzugsweise im MP3-Format allen Interessierten über ihre eigenen Homepages und – sehr schnell – zahlreiche Musikportale meist im MP3-Format frei zugänglich machten.

Die diskographischen Unterteilungen in Tribute, Pro War oder Anti War Songs dienen eher der Orientierung und wollen nicht die Songs in Schubladen ablegen. Nicht selten auch sind diese Einordnungen weniger vom Song selbst als den ihn umgebenden Zuschreibungen bestimmt. Die diskographischen Angaben sortieren sich wie folgt:

Interpret(en): Song- resp. Albumtitel (Tonträgerformat, Erscheinungsdatum resp. Kompositions- oder Aufnahme datum) [Genre] [Internetadresse zu Musik und/oder Text oder auch nur zu weiterführenden Informationen; entfällt bei CD-Veröffentlichungen bekannter Interpreten].

Das Erscheinungsdatum 2001 bezieht sich selbstverständlich, wenn nicht anders vermerkt, auf die Zeit nach dem 11. September. Die Genrezuweisungen sind in der Regel holzschnittartig vorgenommen (Pop, Rock, Folk, Country, HipHop), speziellere beruhen auf von den Interpreten selbst angezeigten Zuweisungen.
